The Black Church: This is Our Story, This is Our Song is a moving four-hour, two-part series that traces the 400-year-old story of the Black church in America. The documentary reveals how Black people have worshipped and, through their spiritual journeys, improvised ways to bring their faith traditions from Africa to the New World, while translating them into a form of Christianity that was truly their own.

For many, the Black church is their house of worship. For some, it is ground zero for social justice. For others, it is a place of transcendent cultural gifts exported to the world, from the soulful voices of preachers to the sublime sounds of gospel music. For the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., going to church in America was also “the most segregated hour” of the week. The Black church was a world within a world, where Black Americans could be themselves; and the epicenter of the freedom struggle that revolutionized the United States across slavery and abolition, Reconstruction, Jim Crow and the Great Migration, and the civil rights movement.

“This is the story and song our ancestors bequeathed to us, and it comes at a time in our country when the very things they struggled and died for—faith and freedom, justice and equality, democracy and grace—all are on the line,” says writer and host Henry Louis Gates, Jr. “No social institution in the Black community is more central and important than the Black church.”

Part one explores the roots of African American religion, beginning with the trans-Atlantic slave trade and the extraordinary ways slaved Africans preserved and adapted their faith practices under the brutal realities of human bondage. As an awakening of Protestant Christianity spread in the 18th century, Black Americans embraced a vision of a liberating God and Black churches that would become bedrock institutions in the long struggle to dismantle slavery.

With Emancipation and Reconstruction, independent Black churches flourished and helped the formerly enslaved navigate a perilous freedom by fulfilling the social, educational, financial, cultural and political needs of African Americans.

Part two continues with the Black church expanding its reach to address social inequality and minister to those in need, from the exodus out of the Jim Crow South to the heroic phase of the civil rights movement in the 1950s and ‘60s.

Renowned participants in the series include Oprah Winfrey; John Legend; Jennifer Hudson; Bishop Michael Curry of the Episcopal Church; Pastors Shirley Caesar and BeBe Winans; civil rights leader Rev. Al Sharpton; and many more.

As some of the most influential Black voices today reflect on the meaning of the church in their lives and to the country, the series contemplates where the “promised land” is for this generation and the next.

The Black Church: This is Our Story, This is Our Song can be seen on 3-2 Tuesdays, the 16th and 23rd at 8:00 p.m. On 3-1, watch it Fridays, the 19th and 26th at 9:00 p.m.

Rosa Parks

Colin Kaepernick

400 Years: Taking the Knee

From the Jamaican national hero Nanny of the Maroons to the NFL quarterback Colin Kaepernick, 400 Years: Taking the Knee celebrates individuals who fought and struggled against colonialism, slavery and their legacies.

Covering 400 years of intertwining British and American histories, the film begins with the European slave trade and then follows the continuing struggle to equality from there. Through war, revolution and emancipation, 400 Years revisits every stage of the plight towards breaking down the systems of slavery, right to the present day.

It is a reminder of the importance of remembering those who have pioneered, resisted, spoken out and paved the way.

400 Years: Taking the Knee airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 9th at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 14th at 2:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Monday, the 15th at 7:00 p.m.

Jazz Ambassadors

The Cold War and Civil Rights movement collide in Jazz Ambassadors, the remarkable story of music, diplomacy and race. In 1955, as the Soviet Union’s propaganda about the U.S. and American racism spread globally, African-American Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. convinced President Eisenhower that jazz was the best way to intervene in the Cold War cultural conflict.

For the next decade, America’s most influential jazz artists, including Dizzy Gillespie, Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington and Benny Goodman, along with their racially-integrated bands, traveled the globe to perform as cultural ambassadors.

Their painful moral dilemma: how could they promote the image of a tolerant America abroad when the country still practiced Jim Crow segregation and racial equality remained an unrealized dream?

Jazz Ambassadors airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 2nd at 8:00 p.m. and Friday, the 5th at 9:00 p.m. It airs on 3-1 Saturday, the 6th at 9:00 p.m.

Armstrong, Egypt, 1961

The Neville Brothers: Tell It Like It Is

The Neville Brothers: Tell It Like It Is is a raucous concert filmed in New Orleans in 1989. Orchestrated by the iconic Herbie Hancock, brothers Art, Charles, Cyril, and Aaron Neville were joined that evening by their family, and many of their best friends, including Gregg Allman, Jimmy Buffett, John Hiatt, Bonnie Raitt, Buckwheat Zydeco, and the Dixie Cups. The resulting performance is a tribute to a great American band whose music still resonates today.

Among the bevy of songs performed include “Yellow Moon” by John Hiatt, “Midnight Rider” by Gregg Allman and “Tell It Like It Is” by Aaron Neville. For the finale, all of the Neville family and every guest perform the Neville Brothers’ hit song “Fire on the Bayou.”

The Neville Brothers: Tell It Like It Is will be broadcast on 3-2 Friday, the 12th at 9:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Saturday, the 13th at 8:00 p.m.

Beyond the Elements

In “Beyond the Elements,” a three-part series on Nova, discover the fascinating chemistry that makes our world and everything in it—including us. Host David Pogue sets out on a quest to find the key molecules and chemical reactions that have paved the way for human civilization, life, and even the universe as we know it.

“Reactions” – Just about every solid, liquid, or gas in the world as we know it begins with reactions between individual atoms and molecules. Nova dives into the transformative world of chemical reactions, from the complex formula that produces cement to the single reaction that’s allowed farmers to feed a global population by the billions—a reaction that when reversed, unleashes the powerful chemistry of high explosives.

“Indestructible” – Glass so strong you can jump on it, rubber so tough it protects a clay pot dropped from 50 feet, endless varieties of plastic. Scientists and engineers have created virtually indestructible versions of common materials by manipulating the chains of interlocking atoms that give them strength. Explore the fantastic chemistry behind the everyday materials we depend on.

“Life” – Without the chemistry of photosynthesis, ozone and a molecule called Rubisco, none of us would be here. So how did we get so lucky? To find out, Nova investigates the surprising molecules that allowed life on Earth to begin, and ultimately thrive. Along the way, we find out what we’re all made of—literally.

“Beyond the Elements” on Nova airs on 3-2 Wednesdays at 8:00 p.m. beginning the 3rd and Saturdays at 10:00 p.m. beginning the 6th. Please see AtoZ on page 18 for 3-1 air dates.

Mars 2020

In “Mars 2020” on Nova, NASA attempts to land its newest robotic geologist, a rover named Perseverance (“Percy”), on the red planet. Launched July 30th from Cape Canaveral, NASA’s Mars 2020 mission is designed to take the rover and the first-ever space helicopter to Mars, hopefully arriving in late February 2021. Once there, the mission centers on detecting Mars’ habitability, and even signs of past life, as well as experiments that investigate the possibility of human exploration.

The rover is about 2,300 pounds and is the size of a small car. It will spend at least one Mars year (about 687 Earth days) using a specially designed drill to collect rock cores and store the samples on the surface until future missions can return them to Earth.

Nestled inside the rover itself, MOXIE (Mars Oxygen In-Situ Resource Utilization Experiment) will test whether it might be possible for future astronauts to turn the planet’s carbon dioxide atmosphere into oxygen.

The rover is accompanied by the first-ever space helicopter, dubbed Ingenuity. The diminutive aircraft weighs only four pounds, but it will attempt to do something big: fly in another world. Ingenuity will use four carbon-fiber blades spinning at 40 rotations per second to navigate gravity that is a fraction of Earth’s.

The mission’s carefully chosen landing site is the Jezero Crater, where an ancient river delta full of mineral-rich sediments joined a huge lake—the kind of place scientists think might have supported life.

“Mars 2020” on Nova airs on 3-2 Wednesday, the 24th at 8:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 27th at 10:00 p.m. Please see AtoZ on page 18 for 3-1 air dates.

Perseverance and Ingenuity

INDEPENDENT LENS

9to5: The Story of a Movement

When the irrepressible Dolly Parton sang, “Workin’ 9 to 5, what a way to make a livin’” she was doing more than just shining a light on the professional fate of American women. Ms. Parton was singing the autobiographical tale of a movement that started with a group of Boston secretaries in the early 1970s. “9 to 5: The Story of a Movement” on Independent Lens is the previously untold story about the secretaries who fought their bosses, inspired a hit movie and changed the American workplace.

In the 1970s, secretaries and clerical workers were the low-wage workers of their era. They made up the largest sector of the American workforce, with over 20 million employed. Inspired by the growing Women’s Liberation Movement, founders Ellen Cassedy and Karen Nussbaum started a cause they called “9to5.” Their goals were simple: better pay, job descriptions, respect, advancement opportunities, and an end to sexual harassment. They employed outrageous wit and wry publicity stunts to attract the press and shame their bosses into change. As America confronts the growing reality of deep income inequality and commonplace sexual harassment, the stories and strategies of these bold, creative women continue to resonate deeply.

Independent Lens “9to5: The Story of a Movement” can be seen on 3-2 Monday, the 1st at 9:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 7th at 2:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Sunday, the 7th at 9:00 p.m.

Karen Nussbaum

Sinatra in Japan

Sinatra in Japan offers a non-stop lineup of the musician’s acclaimed hits. From “The Lady Is a Tramp” and “I’ve Got You Under My Skin” to “Strangers in the Night,” this rarely seen performance will capture the hearts of Sinatra fans.

Filmed in Tokyo in 1985, when Ol’ Blue Eyes was approaching his 70th birthday, the concert is considered one of the great Sinatra shows. Full of energy, the legendary singer doesn’t miss a note, working in perfect harmony with the orchestra and singing several unique arrangements.

With just a light shining on him on stage, the singer takes an adoring audience on a ride through American popular song.

Sinatra in Japan airs on 3-2 Friday, the 19th at 9:00 p.m. and Monday, the 22nd at 8:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Saturday, the 20th at 9:00 p.m.

Death is But a Dream

Neurobiologist Christopher Kerr is a hospice doctor. All of his patients die. Yet he has cared for thousands of patients who, in the face of death, speak of love and grace.

Death is But a Dream travels to Buffalo, New York, where Dr. Kerr is part of a research team studying the dreams of dying patients.

People who are close to death often report dreams or visions of deceased loved ones at their death beds, usually “invisible” to others in the room. These end-of-life experiences resurrect past relationships, meaningful events and themes of love and forgiveness. Often times these visions have themes of travel or preparing to travel somewhere with a loved one.

Such experiences have been reported across history and across cultures. With candid interviews from hospice patients and their clinicians, Death is But a Dream contributes to our understanding of medicine’s and humanity’s greatest mystery.

Death is But a Dream airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 16th at 10:00 p.m., Thursday, the 18th at 7:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 21st at 10:00 a.m. It can be seen on 3-1 Wednesday, the 17th at 7:00 p.m.

Last House Standing

Every year millions of people suffer the wrath of Mother Nature as homes and businesses are demolished, houses are flooded or swept away, and lives are lost. Most people have no idea if their insurance will actually get them whole again after a major disaster.

Last House Standing encourages viewers to change how they approach where they choose to live, understand the risks, and make sure their homes are giving them the best chance to survive a major disaster.

The title of the film refers to a house in Mexico Beach, Florida that is one of the only structures that remained standing after Category Five Hurricane Michael struck the area in November of 2018. The film also shows how cities like Moore, Oklahoma have changed their building code after being struck by four EF4 and EF5 Tornadoes since 1999. Other disasters covered in the film include wildfires and earthquakes in California and the vulnerability of Tampa, Florida to a major Hurricane.

Last House Standing airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 14th at 10:00 a.m. Watch it on 3-1 Sunday, the 14th at 11:00 p.m.

The Devil’s Advocate

In the Pledge of Allegiance, we vow “justice for all,” but when “all” includes accused international and domestic terrorists, justice becomes a contentious notion.

The Devil’s Advocate provides a rare look into the lives of three high-profile defense attorneys, their clients, and the implications of the words “justice for all.”

For the defense lawyers who represent accused terrorists, upholding justice feels like the embodiment of their civil duties, even as vocal naysayers lambast them as unpatriotic traitors. These attorneys in New York and elsewhere face public outcries—and even death threats—to provide their clients with the fair trials that our U.S. Constitution aims to ensure. Upholding the law can take a personal toll.

The Devil’s Advocate airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 23rd at 10:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Wednesday, the 10th at 7:00 p.m.

AMERICAN

Voice of Freedom

On Easter Sunday, 1939, contralto Marian Anderson stepped up to a microphone in front of the Lincoln Memorial. Inscribed on the walls of the monument behind her were the words “all men are created equal.” Barred from performing in Constitution Hall because of her race, Anderson would sing for the American people in the open air.

Celebrated by maestros in Europe and by both white and Black audiences at home, her fame hadn’t been enough to spare her from the indignities and outright violence of racism and segregation.

“Voice of Freedom” weaves together Anderson’s rich life story with this landmark moment in history, exploring fundamental questions about talent, race and fame.

“Voice of Freedom” on American Experience airs on 3-2 Monday, the 15th at 8:00 p.m. It airs on 3-1 Sunday, the 21st at 9:00 p.m.

Journey alongside black bears, witness an elaborate hummingbird courtship display, and observe bats stalking the desert floor to seek out scorpions. New Western dramas unfold in these untamed borderlands.

“Big Bend” on Nature airs on 3-2 Wednesday, the 10th at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 13th at 11:00 p.m. Please see the AtoZ on page 18 for 3-1 air dates.

The Buddha

2500 years ago, a new religion was born in northern India, generated from the ideas of a single man, the Buddha, a mysterious Indian sage who famously gained enlightenment while he sat under a large, shapely fig tree. The Buddha never claimed to be God or his emissary on earth. He said only that he was a human being who, in a world of unavoidable pain and suffering, had found a kind of serenity that others could find, too.

The Buddha tells the story of his life, a journey especially relevant in our own bewildering times of violent change and spiritual confusion. Richard Gere narrates.

The Buddha can be seen on 3-1 Sunday, the 28th at 11:00 a.m.

THE COLORADO

THE COLORADO is an epic film about North America's wildest river. From the earliest settlements in the region to the impact of climate change today, the documentary is a sweeping exploration of the river's history.

Along the way, THE COLORADO tells the stories of European and AngloAmerican explorations in the 18th and 19th centuries, the dam-building era and its consequences, agriculture and immigration, and the fate of the river's delta in Mexico.

Sunday, the 28th at 11:00 a.m. on 3-2
